ALAMEDA FULL UP

COWBOYS AND RIFLE TEAM HOME—PASSED BETWEEN THE SQUADRONS GOING UP.

The coming of the Oceanic steamship Alameda this morning from San Francisco was a glad thing. There was on the Oceanic wharf, on the old reliable's arrival, just such a multitude as presents itself when the vessel is about to depart. Just as enthusiastic was the crowd and just as picturesque with its leis and usual well-dressed Honolulu throng. Travelers have expressed their sentiments thiswise, too; they declare, and have many times declared, that there are more well-dressed men and women, particularly women, in a Honolulu welcome or farewell crowd than can be found anywhere else in the world.

Well, Berger's band turned out and played a new tune and a lot of the welcome old ones, too, and such a rushing for the gangway when Hawaii's returning sharpshooters and cowboys came off the liner. They were the life of trip, were the rifle team and the boys who so distinguished themselves at Cheyenne, and the Alameda carried a big crowd to enjoy them.

There was one hundred and nineteen people in the first cabin and fifty-two in the steerage, over two hundred and fifty lives aboard altogether, including crew and ever genial and accommodating Purser Smith, Trusty Dowdell, the commander, and sympathetic Dr. Clark.

Hawaii's sharpshooters and riflemen are musicians and there was a feast of music every day, the accommodating marksmen and steer-jugglers awaiting the second table at meals and giving a concert while the first-tables ate. The Alameda brought five days' later mail, including a great many bags for the United States supplyship Solace to be taken to the Pacific fleet now en route to Samoa.

The usual good times was made on the down trip, five days' and nineteen hours.

On the up trip the Alameda split the Pacific fleet, or rather she passed between two lines of the fleet. The fleet met her in two columns. In one column were four cruisers and their tows, destroyers, and in the other column were three cruisers and three destroyers and the supplyship Solace. The Alameda passed between these two lines, her passengers getting a splendid view of the big white and little black men-of-war.

Among the passengers in the Alameda this morning was John Pringle who comes here with half a dozen experts to erect the additional barracks at Fort Shafter. Mr. Pringle is accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. R. W. Anderson and three children returned home, she being the wife of Dr. Anderson, well known here. W. A. Bryan of scientific fame, locally as well as abroad, is home again.

"Bob" Cathcart and family, he who was so long with Wilder & Co., having been to Tahiti, are again in the city. Mrs. Chalmers, wife of the Waimanalo plantation manager, returned. Miss Kate Kelly is once more in the Paradise of the Pacific. Land Commissioner Pratt is back to work. D. Van Menden is a tobacco expert here to investigate smoke material. The S. G. Wilders are home and a lot of other well-known people returned.

TO CLOSE HIM UP

A petition asking that Yung Tung, a Chinese merchant of Wailuku, be declared an involuntary bankrupt was filed in the Federal Court this morning by the following local firms: M. Phillips & Co., The von Hamm-Young Co., E. O. Hall & Son and Hoffschlager Company. It is alleged that Yung Tung, during the month of August of the present year, committed an act of bankruptcy in filing an assignment to M. Green while he was insolvent. The claims are as follows: M. Phillips, $680.12; von Hamm-Young, $272.97; E. O. Hall, $37.20; Hoffschlager, $339.03.

NEUMANN BEQUESTS

LATE WIDOW OF PAUL NEUMANN LEFT ESTATE AMOUNTING TO $38,300 TO RELATIVES.

The last will and statement of Mrs. Paul Neumann, who was drowned from the steamer City of Sydney, while coming to San Francisco from Acapulco, Mexico, was filed in the Circuit Court this morning. The property in this Territory, consisting of real estate and stocks, amounts in value to approximately $38,300, and all is left to various relatives. A number of legacies are left to relatives living in this city.

Lela Dinklage, a niece of Mrs. Neumann, living here, is left one acre of the undivided half of the tract of Pelepele, Manoa Valley. Mrs. Neumann's brother, Herman Dinklage, is left $150, as are Solomon Paul Neumann and Geraldine Frances Neumann. The remainder is given to the following children to be divided in equal shares: Mrs. Alfred Fowler, Mrs. W. F. C. Hasman, Mrs. Herman Focke, Paul E. Neumann, W. E. T. Neumann, and Little L. K. Neumann. Mrs. Hasson and Herman Focke are named as the executors, without bond.

In a codicil $250 is left to Miss Lela Dinklage and $5,000 is left to Herman Focke in trust the income to be paid to Christina A. Finckler, and after her death to be divided between P. R. Hasman, Eva Focke and Maria Anita Focke, the grandchildren of the deceased.

The inventory of the property in this Territory shows the following: lot on King street, value $10,000, two lots in Kalihi of about 100 acres together, $3,000, 500 shares Oahu Sugar, 10 shares Wailuku, 18 shares Honouliuli, 10 shares Hawaiian Electric, 10 shares Metropolitan Meat, 50 shares Honolulu Plantation, a total of $23,300.

MONITOR COMING

U. S. S. WYOMING IN COMMISSION ON OCTOBER FIRST—OIL BURNER.

Orders have been received at the Mare Island navy yard to place the United States monitor Wyoming in commission on or about October 1. She is destined for Hawaiian waters. This vessel has been out of commission for about three years, undergoing extensive overhauling. Among the many improvements made is that of converting her into an oil burner. Crude oil being used as fuel in place of coal. This is the only naval vessel on this coast—aside from tugboats—which has thus been fitted for burning oil, and, although the navy has made exhaustive experiments in this direction, the result on the Wyoming will be watched with interest.

ONE MAN'S WISDOM.

"You really ought to have a better half," said the young widow.
"Yes," admitted the bachelor, "but the trouble is after a woman has been a man's better half for a few weeks she wants to be the whole thing."

THE NEW WEEKLY

The Pacific Weekly will be on the streets bright and early tomorrow morning in an enlarged form but at the old price.
It will contain an article by C. F. Maxwell on a kidnapping escapade of the notorious "Bully" Hayes, two more chapters of H. M. Ayres' Hawaiian story "According to His Lights," live comment on boxing, automobilism and other sports, and a number of other interesting features.

A Mistaken Idea

Some people who look with horror on the idea of drinking beer that contains less than 3 per cent. alcohol, drink malt extract regularly that contains 6 per cent. They look upon beer as an intoxicant. Now, beer is the best kind of a malt extract and you can't do better than drink.
